BATTLE AROUND MONASTIR

Allies and Bulgarians Fight for Hills Commanding City; Serbs Northwest of Kaimakchalan

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—Bulgarian troops have evacuated several villages on the east bank of the river Struma, where the British have begun an offensive, the war office announced this afternoon.

In Transylvania, Field Marshal Falkenhayn has won a new victory over the Rumanians, driving the enemy's center back across the Homorod and Alt rivers and storming Sinaia.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Two allied armies fighting their way toward Monastir, the Bulgarian base in southwestern Serbia, have defeated the Bulgarians in pitched battles, driving them back in disorder.

British troops are driving back the Bulgarians in severe fighting on the Struma front. It was officially announced Friday.

The town of Nevelen was occupied by the British without loss, after a brief artillery attack.

The capture of Nevelen was announced here at about the same time an official report was received from General Serrail, commanding the Bulgarian operations, that the Bulgars were retreating under British attack. A delayed Bulgarian official statement had announced the repulse of British attacks at Nevelen. The war office reported the capture of 242 prisoners in recent operations on the Struma.

Not only on the right wing but south of Monastir, the allies are vigorously on the offensive. General Serrail announced violent fighting on the entire Medzili-Kenali-Gradenika front.

Southwest of Monastir French and Russian detachments, having occupied the villages of Buf and Popli, are pushing their advance toward the Serbo-Greek frontier with the greatest vigor. Allied and Bulgar troops are battling for possession of the hills leading down to Monastir, about eleven miles away.

A Serbian army that crossed the Greek frontier more than a fortnight ago has fought its way to a plateau northwest of Kaimakchalan.
The Serbs are now driving northward in an attempt to flank the Bulgars out of Monastir.

On the allies' extreme right in the Struma valley, the British have repulsed successive Bulgarian counter attacks.

Bulgars Beaten on Struma SALONIKA, Oct. 6.—Bulgarian troops are retreating before the British on the Struma front, said an official statement issued by General Sarrail Friday.

At the same time violent fighting has been broken out on the allies' right wing, General Sarrail reported.
The battle is raging with great intensity on the entire Medzili-Kenali-Gradenika line.

Bulgaria Rid of Rumanians
SOFIA, Oct. 6.—Not a single Rumanian soldier of the 15,000 who crossed the Danube and were encircled and cut to pieces by the Bulgars now remains on Bulgarian soil, it was officially announced Friday. In Macedonia, Bulgarian troops have repulsed British attacks against Neve-len.

Retirement Admitted
LONDON, Oct. 6.—Official dispatches from Bucharest Friday announced that the Rumanians have retired across the Danube, after making a successful raid on Bulgarian soil brought no confirmation of the Bulgarian official report that about 15,000 Rumanian troops were wiped out.

HAZING TO BRING EXPULSION

BELOIT, Wis., Oct. 6.—Future hazing in any form at Beloit college will be punished by prompt expulsion, Dean Collis told boys of the sophomore class here following a midnight paddling party in which a number of masked "sophs" meted out mild punishment to freshmen for failure to wear their green caps.

THESE BABIES APPEAL TO YOU THROUGH "TAG DAY" FOR A CHANCE

Hello, babies! How d' y'do! Little dearies—all of you!—Babe demure and and baby camp, from the Myrick Baby Camp. Fresh-air babies, health endowed, protectors of Wind and Cloud, bathed in sunshine, laved in showers, playmates of the birds and flowers. Made of star dust and of light, soul-shine constellation bright; hostages in Heaven's plan to redeem the soul of man.
This is the ransom that we pay—love and shield you all the way; bring Life's chance to every scamp in the Myrick Baby Camp.

These little tots were "snapped" at the Myrick Baby Camp last summer. Of course every one of the live little group "snapped" right back. They are so full of health and good spirits that "snap" is their middle name. They were not all the happy "snappy" little dearies you now see—not when they matriculated in Nature's university, but after taking the "Summer course"— well, look them over!

Perhaps you had a hand in this adventure in citizenship. If you paid for a "tag" on the occasion of the 1915 "Tag Day," you are a stockholder in this great Soul Trust, and your dividends are represented in this picture. You'll clip the coupons as long as you live and have a "C.
D." for Hereafter.

Of course all the old stockholders will subscribe for more Soul Trust stock Saturday, which is 1916 "Tag Day" for the visiting nurse, of whose annual program the Baby Camp is a feature. And of course every citizen who examines this prospectus will underwrite some stock in the Soul Trust. They come to YOU—these children. "Forbid them not!"

One can not look at this inspiring picture without wanting to know more about it. Recently an officer of a great Wisconsin corporation, visiting in the city, heard about the baby camp. He was so deeply impressed that he left a check for $100 to help the cause. This man was an outsider. Wasn't his action a good hint for La Crosse people?

The picture shows the fruits of summer work, but more funds are needed to develop efficiency in the winter work of the visiting nurse.
Last spring a baby that had been helped by the baby camp died. It might have lived had the summer camp been extended to it during the winter. Society is guilty of the negligence that caused this baby's death. It wasn't intentional, it was because we do not stop to think. "Tag Day" is a good time to stop and think.

For a city of its size the Health department of La Crosse gives service as adequate as any that is to be found in the country. The visiting nurses depend for their funds entirely on Tag Day, the Christmas seal

Russ Continue
Lemberg Drive,
Petrograd Says

PETROGRAD, Oct. 6.—Russian troops have captured enemy positions south of Brzezany (southeast of Lemberg), repelling repeated German-Turkish counter attacks, it was officially announced Friday.

Fierce battles are proceeding near Zlota Hev, and in the regions of Peniaki, Gumlavce, and Mlynovec.
The Austro-Germans are resisting stubbornly and counter attacking. In this fighting 539 prisoners have been taken.

In Dobrudja, the Russo-Rumanian offensive continues. Three hundred more prisoners have been taken.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Instructions have been issued to the taggers in charge of Saturday's "Tag Day" program not to solicit the same person twice.
Anticipating being approached several times, many people have adopted the practice of giving several small donations during the day. As that will not be required this year, people are urged to make their first donation as generous as possible, as it will be the last and only one unless they voluntarily purchase other tags.

Well, Who Wouldn't Take a Chance!

It won't be hard to dig up
When you think, think, think.
How much the little kiddies Need your chink, chink, chink.
So just slip it to the tagger
With your best wink, wink.

Gentlemen—no others need apply here's a happy hint. The above verses were written by a tagger, therefore they are official. It's a point in ethics—or is it etiquette?
You may wink at the pretty lady—if you buy a tag. This lady says you may, and no doubt the concurrence of the others may be assumed.

cretion in liquid proof, applied with campaign, and the $250 contributed annually by the city. We have one supervising nurse and four assistants, three of whom are volunteer nurses, one from each of the hospitals. If we had to pay our nurses a salary, we could not hope to get a supervisor for less than $1,200 a year. Most cities pay between $1,500 and $2,000. Each of the other four nurses would cost us a minimum of $75 a month. That would make a total expense of $4,800 a year. Our Tag Days net us about $1,200. The sale of seals brings in between $500 and $600. Figures talk.

CRANBERRY MAGNATE
SHOT BY HIGHWAYMEN

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Oct. 6.— Highwaymen shot and probably fatally wounded A. J. Rider, president of the New Jersey Cranberry Growers' association, his niece and an unidentified man, and killed his brother, Henry R. Rider of Howell, Mich., on the Atson road, about three miles below here Thursday afternoon.

Screams from Miss Rider as the men, supposedly Italians, turned the revolver upon her, frightened them off in such haste that they left $8-000, which was found beneath the seat of their automobile.

Rider was on his way to the cranberry district surrounding Atson to pay off berry pickers, mostly Italians.

AGED MAN PLEADS
FOR GRAND-CHILD

Eighty-year-old Ludwig Larsen from Office to Office Seeks the Release of

SHE GOES TO MENDOTA

Young Girl Is Adjudged Insane After Trying to Flirt with the Policemen

La Crosse laughed yesterday when the police, in the undisturbed, almost philosophical manner of police departments the world over, took into custody Rachel Larsen, 18, and called for an insanity commission to examine her because she had been making love to policemen. It was all in the day's business with the police.
A little puzzled by the fun enjoyed over the peculiar circumstances, they went ahead with their business. The insanity commission examined Rachel Thursday afternoon, and as the police predicted, adjudged her not mentally competent. Judge Brindley directed that she be taken to Mendota hospital for treatment.

So Rachel went through the mill.
The police didn't understand what all the fuss was about. Rachel didn't understand anything about the matter except that she liked big Arthur Ashland's brass buttons and uniform.
One other, perhaps, in the whole city, did not understand it. He was Rachel's grandfather, Ludwig Larsen, 80 years old, bent and feeble, with whom she lived at 2038 Kane street.

The venerable old man began Friday morning a vain quest of his granddaughter. Back and forth from city to county officials he hobbled.
To the police, to the city attorney, to the sheriff, to the county judge, the aged grandfather carried his plaint:

"Let me take Rachel home."
It was unavailing to explain to him that the case was closed—that Rachel is to be taken for treatment to a place where she will have every care—that the commitment is in her best interests. The old man waved it all aside. He scarcely listened, and at the conclusion of each careful explanation returned to his dogged plea:

"Let me take Rachel home."
His broken, scanty English was equal to little else. He had no words to plead with these kindly officials who couldn't seem to understand.
Sometimes it was accompanied with a weary gesture of the hands, or a despairing shake of his grizzled head, but always his answer was only a plea for his granddaughter.

DIVER BLOCKADE OF BRITISH PORTS
VON TIRPITZ PLAN

By CARL W. ACKERMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
BERLIN, Oct. 6.—A submarine blockade of certain English harbors was suggested to the government by several leaders of the Von Tirpitz faction advocating a resumption of submarine warfare, it was learned Friday.

The Von Tirpitz supporters offered this suggestion as a compromise.
They urged that such a course would be in accord with the chancellor's announced determination of prosecuting a vigorous war against England and would cut off English food and ammunition supplies without endangering the lives or property of neutrals.

The government is not impressed by the suggestion and there is no present indication that it will be put into force. The conviction is growing that the efforts to overthrow the chancellor are doomed to failure and that there will be no change in the policy of the government during the war.

The present reichstag fight appears to be the final effort of the conservatives, wealthy industrialists, annexationists and agrarians to get control of the government.
A trusted German official, one of the best informed men here, who knows the United States and American sentiment well, declared confidently to the United Press Friday that the present political explosion will not bring the downfall of either Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg or Foreign Secretary, Von Jagow.
Neither does it forecast a resumption of reckless submarine as some neutrals seem to believe, he said.

GIVES ESTATE TO SYND

MARINETTE, Mich., Oct. 6.—Mrs.
Betty Johnson of this city, who died recently, bequeathed a house and lot tate, to the Superior conference of the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran synd of North America.

VIOLENT ARTILLERY
BATTLE BREAKS OUT ON VERDUN FRONT

Bombardment, After Several Weeks of Inactivity, Believed to Signal Severe Fighting

PARIS, Oct. 6.—A violent bombardment broke out on the northeastern front of Verdun Thursday night after several weeks of inactivity, the war office announced Friday.

The artillery, evidently a prelude to severe fighting, was heaviest on the Cote Poivre and the Laufee wood sectors.

Artillery on both sides was very active on the Somme front. Near Quenneviers a French patrol cleaned up a German supporting trench with grenades.

British Advance on Somme
LONDON, Oct. 6.—British troops north of the Somme advanced their positions further east in fighting northeast of Eaucourt L'Abbaye, in the direction of the Bapaume highway, it was officially announced Friday.

South of the Ancre brook, there was considerable artillery during the night.
East of Loos and east of Hometieres, Haig's men discharged gas successfully and near Loos and south of Arras, conducted successful raids on enemy trenches.

CUNARDERSUNK
BY SUBMARINE IN MEDITERRANEAN

Franconia, Used in Transport Service, Goes to Bottom; Twelve of the Crew
Missing

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The admiralty announces that the Cunard steamer Franconia, employed for transport duty, was sunk in the Mediterranean on Wednesday by an enemy submarine. The steamer had no troops aboard. Twelve men of the crew of 392 are missing.

According to the latest available reports, the Franconia was being used as a British transport. It was a vessel of 18,150 tons gross and was built in 1910. Its maiden voyage was between Liverpool and Boston in February, 1911.

The Franconia was 625 feet long and 72 feet wide. When it was built it was considered one of the most comfortable steamers of the Cunard line. A striking feature of the salon apartments was the absence of staterooms on the boat deck which was devoted to a promenade room, a library, a gymnasium and a lounge and smoking room. The vessel was nicknamed the "bath ship" inasmuch as it has more bathrooms and showers than the Mauretania, this equipment being installed for the benefit of passengers bound for long cruises to the Mediterranean.

Chartered as Transport
The steamer of the Franconia was considered the best appointed of any steamer carrying third class passengers. The old idea of steerage compartments had been eliminated and state-rooms, capable of accommodating four, six and eight persons had been installed.

GERARD BRINGING PEACE APPLICATION
FROM KAISER, CLAIM

New York Evening Post Claims High Authority for Statement of Peace
Parley

BANKERS AUTHORITY

Reference to Financiers May Mean They Have Been Taken as the Background

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Ambassador Gerard, according to the Evening Post Friday afternoon, is bringing to President Wilson an application from Germany for the president to use his good offices in suing for peace.

The Post article says:
"Germany has definitely decided to apply to President Wilson to use his good offices in suing for peace with the allies.
This was learned today from sources in a position to have absolutely trustworthy information on these matters."

"It is understood that Ambasador James W. Gerard, who is on his way over here, will lay the kaiser's request before President Wilson within a week."

"Important banking interests in close touch with Germany's plans pointed out today that a great many nations were involved in the European conflict, and hence, months might elapse before peace would be finally consummated, even in the event that President Wilson intervened as mediator."

"Ambassador Gerard is on board the Steamship Frederick VIII, which left from the other side on Saturday last and is due here, according to officers of the line, probably on Tuesday next."

Corroboration Claimed
"Corroboration of the statement from other sources on this side of the water which might be described as "highest authority" came this afternoon to substantiate the belief in financial circles."

"The main statement, made with great positiveness today, tends to confirm the rumors that have been afloat for months."

Report Not Surprising
"It is a fact however positively it may have been denied officially, that the possibility of President Wilson acting as mediator has been discussed by German officials with Ambassador Gerard. It is, therefore, by no means surprising that the reports now take definite shape in connection with Mr. Gerard's trip to this country."

"The source from which the information was obtained did not know what terms would be offered by Germany. No details of that nature were obtainable, but it was generally thought that if Germany was making the offer in view of recent events of the war, the terms which Teutonic empires would agree to would be much more reasonable than those which have been suggested from time to time as a basis for ending the conflict."

Police Baffled
By Request to Locate Family

Who are the relatives of Oliver South, of Alton, Ill., or possibly of St. Louis?
The police Friday received a telegram from St. Louis, with information that Oliver South is dead at Alton, Ill., and requesting that his relatives be notified.
But no Souths are listed in the city directory, and the police at 2 o'clock had been unable to get on the trail of anyone who could enlighten them on the subject.
The message was signed "W.
Charlton, Thirteenth and Chouteau, St. Louis, Mo."

Friday.

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache, stuffy nose, cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be but a little while until the roses begin to appear in the cheeks. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation. Try it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.

HOW TO BE SLIM

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or 20 pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughed at on account of your fat, but go to City Book and Drug Store, 500 Main street, Columbus Pharmacy, 123 South fourth street, and get a box of Oil of Korein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weight yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body.

It costs little, is absolutely harmless and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.

WOMEN'S SPECIAL AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—When women Hughes campaign special reached here at noon Thursday scores of gaily decorated automobiles lined up behind a big brass band to greet the women stumblers.

The visitors were taken to Grant park for a giant open air reception, and then a parade was formed and after a march through Michigan boulevard and the Loop, a mammoth luncheon of 750 women at the La Salle hotel was given at which Alvin T. Hart, western campaign manager for Hughes, Mrs. Raymond Robins, Dr. Katherine B. Davis of New York, Miss Harriet Vittumb and others spoke.

There's something wrong with the small boy who isn't the victim of a chronic case of hunger.

RUBBER MADE IN TEXAS

Few people know that a plant native to Texas and Mexico has proved capable of producing a high grade rubber, yet a factory has been in operation in Marathon, Texas, for several years. The plant is the wild guayule shrub which grows in the semi-arid land and has heretofore been regarded as an undesirable product of the soil. Plans are now under way to plant 50,000 acres with this shrub during the coming year and increase the area until at least a million acres are under cultivation.
In Mexico crude rubber amounting to millions of dollars in value has been produced from guayule.

SHOCK KILLS GAME BIRDS

Powder company are feeding on partridges which light on the fence tension wires that line the fences about the plant and fall dead.

A SQUARE DEAL
FOR OUR SOLDIERS

General statements are always dangerous. Sensational declarations carry the sense of exaggeration.

Any group of men from whom home influences and the conventionalities of society are removed tend to a quicker response to primitive impulses, and these facts of nature must be taken into account by society in its attitude toward bodies of men enlisted in military movements.

But civilization's hold upon men is not easily relinquished.
The breeding of centuries is expressed in character too deeply founded to be discarded at will. The human conscience is a dictator that holds the average man to close account of his conduct and keeps him fairly steady even under abnormal conditions.

That charges recently made concerning the deportment of the Wisconsin militia were so sensational as to stagger credulity is a fact that operates automatically for their qualified refutation.
That they were generally applied creates an impression of injustice calculated to cause their rejection even by the less skeptical.
It should be remembered that a regiment of militia is not unlike any other group of citizens in that it numbers men of easy virtue with others of exemplary character, and we who have the privilege of knowing more or less intimately our La Crosse soldier boys, are aware that among them the better class is an extensive majority. Now let us suppose that some men in this group are addicted to practices frowned upon by society, and that a statement to that effect is made in general terms. Nobody knows who is meant, and the way is open for suspicion to blacken the clean men who are conducting themselves honorably in the trials of a situation the burden of which they have assumed on behalf of all of us.

It is indeed sad and unjust that this has happened. The women at home suffer with the men at the front. It is an in-tangible thing—a cloud—and they can not wipe it away. It substitutes a sense of shame where pride should be. It creates doubt and uncertainty where should be confidence and sureness. It brings no harm to those who transgress, but humiliates men to whom honor is dear.

We labor under no delusions concerning the primitive instincts of either tomcats or men, nor do we seek to invest humans of any class with the quality of infallibility, but we do insist that a decent man in La Crosse is a decent man in San Antonio and that the men who have won the reputation of being the best soldiers in the American militia have by that achievement successfully challenged all accusations of general wantonness. And we are indeed happy to be able to say, from official records, that the moral deportment of the Wisconsin brigade is the best of any in the service, and that the deportment of the Third regiment probably is the best in the state. La Crosse, Sparta, Tomah and Viroqua have sent a splendid lot of men, much of the cream of their youth, out on a mission of hardship and patriotism; we hold them in a place of high honor and we glory in the defense of the good name which rightfully they bear.

LET'S MAKE IT
BROAD ENOUGH

The special session of the legislature, called to so amend the law governing voting by letter as to permit militiamen now out of the state to vote in the November election, is not confined to that single point by the governor's call, and a recent supreme court decision suggests the need of amendment to reach still another class.

The present law requires the voter to appear in person and register his intent to vote by mail within thirty days prior to election. This bars the soldiers, because they can no more come back to make this application than return to vote. It also bars all other absentees whose departure antedates election more than thirty days, and a large class so affected are the students in Madison and in other schools in the state.

The other day the supreme court held that only those university students, not citizens of Madison, who have abandoned the shelter and support of their parents' homes can vote. The ruling operates to deprive hundreds of young men who can not well come home for election, of the opportunity to vote. The proposed amendment for the advantage of the militiamen should apply to students. Indeed, since class legislation can not be adopted, it is probable that any relief measure that touches the soldiers will have to be so general in its terms as to give similar relief to students domiciled away from home.

IN MISFIT
CLOTHING

Col. Roosevelt's "skin 'im alive" speech proved vastly entertaining, but its value as a political asset to Mr. Hughes remains a matter for speculation.

It is difficult for Col. Roosevelt, himself, to become an asset to Mr. Hughes, who labors in strange fields. In the beginning the republican campaign was planned by Roosevelt, for Roosevelt. He gave it a San Juan Hill foundation and prepared for the rough-riding charge.

Then came the republican convention, and placed Hughes in Roosevelt's saddle. Thereafter the spectacle of the dignified and sedate Mr. Hughes attired as a rough-riding, bumping the bumps of a bucking broncho with the ermine and broadcloth of the bench showing between his "chaps" and holster.

A Roosevelt epithet is a sermon; a Hughes epithet is the plaint of a scold. Vitriolic language fits him no more than the beaded buckskin of the Roosevelt cowboy. The powerful analysis and close reasoning which make him great are lost in the picturesque make-up in which he becomes grotesque. He is like "little Lord Fauntleroy" starring in "Huckleberry Finn".

It was said the people did not know Hughes. The campaign indicates that they do, for the whole country senses the incongruity of his position. Indeed, it is probable that the real Hughes is known to enough voters to insure his election, but to that result his carping interpretation of the Roosevelt "whirlwind campaign" contributes nothing that is not negligible, if indeed not negative. Hughes sentiment in this section is built upon the conviction that Hughes is sound and ably constructive—despite his campaign—and that general business as it touches average people will profit by his administration.

Out of the Mouths of Kids
"What was the date of Columbus' discovery of America?" an examiner asked.

"1492," the bright boy replied instantly.

"Right," said the examiner. "And why was that date important for you to remember?"

"Because I knew you would be sure to ask it," the bright boy said.

Out of Danger

A young fellow was looking over a fence watching a girl milk a cow in an open field, when suddenly he observed a young and excited bull with his head lowered and tail cocked high in the air, rushing madly toward her. The youth called out to warn her of the approaching danger, but she just glanced at the bull and continued calmly to milk the cow.

Still the infuriated animal rushed toward the dauntless girl, and then, when it was almost upon her, it stopped short, gave a loud bellow and galloped away to the farther side of the meadow.

The young fellow now ventured to ask the girl how she knew the bull would not touch her.

"Oh," was the gentle reply, "this cow's his mother-in-law."

Asking Too Much

A party of engineers were tracing a township line across some farm lands in Illinois. As chance would have it, the line passed directly through a large barn on each side of it, and they found they could continue their measurements through the barn by opening the doors and thus avoiding the dreaded detour.
The owner watched their progress with considerable interest, but made no comment until they had reached the farther side of the barn, when he asked:

"That a railroad ye-all surveyin', fer?"

"Certainly," replied the chief, with a humorous twinkle in his eye.

The farmer meditated a bit as he closed the barn doors behind them, when he remarked somewhat aggressively: "I hain't got no objections ter havin' er railroad on my farm, but I'll be darned if I'm going ter open and shet them doors for yer train to go through!"

The Ruling Passion

"Who are these gentlemen having lunch together?"

"A party of scientists."

"I don't suppose a low browed individual could understand what they are talking about."

"He might. I overheard one of them just now ask the waiter if there was a ball game today."—Birmingham Age-Her-Id.

The Men Won't Agree

The women of the olden days in our country were not lacking in mother wit. A boy who was carving a pig at a dinner more than a hundred years ago took a rib of the pig and, holding it up before the ladies, said: "Ladies, I believe that this is what the first of your sex was made of."

"Yes, it was," calmly replied one of the ladies, "and from very much the same kind of a critter."

AURORA

How Aurora got its name, we have not succeeded in learning; but how it has succeeded in living up to it is well known. Aurora Borealis is a bright spot in the Northern Heavens, and Aurora, Illinois is a bright spot, too. Whether it was urged thereto by the consciousness of its flaring name, or merely by municipal pride, Aurora had round street lamps on the end of poles before Chicago did. It was one of the original patentees of the great white way idea.

Aurora is built on hills, and the beautiful Fox river flows through and around it, for its business center is on an island. Over these hills are draped the long lines of its street lights, like ropes of fire, and the quiet waters of the river catch their images and stretch them into long golden swords.

Unlike many other cities that are beautiful by night, Aurora does not fear the sunlight, for her residence district is a place of fine old houses and ample grounds and wide shade trees that arch the streets. Many of her down town buildings are white, and they too, look down at their reflections in the river.

Like all other bustling American towns, Aurora has many possessions of which it is proud. One of these for instance, is a lively business in making munition materials. It has a factory that has been burned and blown up several times in the past few years, and that is the real proof of industrial enterprise in these parlous days.

Another thing of which Aurora is proud is her dance pavilion. We have forgotten whether it is the biggest in the world, or the biggest in the state, or just the biggest in Aurora. Anyway, it is very big and the very best people go there and it has a balcony overlooking the romantic Fox river, where the gay young Aurorans eat ice cream and spoon of summer nights.

INVITED

By Charles Sherman

He Comes Up Smiling, The Upper Crust,
A Wise Son, etc.

The Bobbs-Merrill Company

She nodded and pursed up her lips, realizing suddenly that was just possible Sammy had some rights in the matter. After all, marriage had been as great a risk for him to take as for her. He might have some rather interesting views on the subject. "I'll write him that I've just found my father, and that when he and I become acquainted, I'll come back and get acquainted with him" she said, with a pretty little air of giving Sammy one more chance. Appleby sighed—for Sammy's sake.

Getting married to Vera was strenuous enough, getting acquainted with her would be worst.

"Isn't that all right?" asked Vera.
"Don't you approve of our getting acquainted? If Sammy knew me better—"

"If you knew Sammy," suggested Appleby.

"Oh!" Vera looked blank for a moment, then patted his arm with knowing condescension. "My dearest dad, I know Sammy from forelock to boot-toe."

"It may be just possible that Sammy also knows you," returned Appleby.

Vera frowned. Could it be possible that she was so simple that Sammy knew her even as she knew him? All his little faults and foibles were quite familiar to her. Could it be possible that she, too, had faults and foibles, and that Sammy likewise "knew" her? Perhaps there was nothing to her to know. It was just barely possible that she was as simple, as easy to understand, as Sammy. She frowned thoughtfully, poking at the sod with her parasol.

Appleby smoked stolidly and turned again to his perusal of the Sunday supplement, his silk handkerchief, tucked in his collar, giving him the appearance of an elderly baby. It was a pleasure, Vera found, to sit with a man who was frankly indiferent to you at times. It gave her that delightful feeling of being at liberty to show her indifference to him and yet sure that he cared as much for her as she did for him. She pondered this new idea a while, and then poked her father.

"If Sammy treated me as you do, I'd pinch him," said she.

"What?" asked Appleby, turning to her a bit impatiently.

"I said," repeated Vera emphatically, "that if Sammy were as nasty to me as you are, I'd pinch him."

"Has to make love all the time, eh, poor devil," granted Appleby.

"He has to show that I am more interesting than the Sunday supplement," declared Vera.

"My dear," said her father, "you are not." And he turned with relief to the pictured adventures of two small boys and a billy-goat.

At lunch, Miss Varney again presided, explaining in her low charming voice, with the little flutter of her hands that made Ricky's heart flutter also, that Miss Appleby was deeply grieved at her inability to meet her guests, that she hoped to be able to do so tomorrow at the latest.
These attacks of hers were annoying, but not serious. They seldom lasted longer than three days. She hoped they would make themselves thoroughly at home and if they wanted anything, they must not hesitate to speak to Miss Varney or Mrs. Mainwaring about it.

"Would it not be better if we all left and returned when auntie is feeling better?" asked Mrs. Bingham, a tall slender woman, with a thin earnest face, rather plain, but decidedly "stylish." She had arrived the night before with her maid, her two pretty little girls and their nurse.

The women politely seconded the suggestion. But Miss Varney protested at the mere idea. These attacks, from which Miss Appleby suffered, were sometimes very short. Miss Appleby might possibly be down that evening to dinner.

"I could return the minute she recovered," explained Mrs. Bingham, glancing nervously behind her and paling as though listening to pursuing footsteps.

"Really," protested Miss Varney.
"I think Miss Appleby would be better pleased if you all remained. Of course, if you gentlemen have any business in the city—"

"Now, why should they have such important things to do that they are needed in the city any more than we women?" demanded Maude, covering Miss Varney with nervous confusion, as indeed she did every time she spoke. "Are we simply dolls, simply men's playthings, that our time and presence are of no value? We, ourselves, of no importance anywhere?"

"You are of importance to us, dear," said the unfortunate Tommy,
trying to soothe her.

"What way?" demanded Maude crisply. "Merely as a plaything," she answered herself, before any one could speak.

Looking at Maude, tall and broad-shouldered, her brown hair flying in all directions around her large face and big features, it was hard to conceive of her as anybody's plaything.
She looked, as she spoke, directly at Vera, and Vera smiled back, the infuriated smile of the charming woman, sure of her masculine following, for the other woman plainer and less popular than she, and both were aware of it.

"I'm not sure sometimes which is the plaything," said Vera, "the man or the woman—provided the woman knows men," she added sweetly, sending the barbed shaft straight at poor Maude.

The commission is composed of two republicans and one progressive. Major General Goethals, chairman, and Interstate Commerce Commissioner E. E. The commission is expected to begin its work of investigation before the Anderson law—providing the eight-hour day—actually goes into effect January 1. ## Message To Thin Weak Scrawny Folks

An Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 Pounds of Solid, Healthy Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat, I eat plenty of good nourishing food." The reason is just this. You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of our food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently regaining the fat-making elements of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the arched, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to "take in" with every meal and see if your cheeks don't quickly fill out and roll firm, healthy flesh over your body, covering each bony angle and softening point.

Hoeschler Bros. and other good druggists have Sargol or can get it from any wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the results it produces as stated on the guarantee in each large package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

NEAR STRIKE WAS OBJECT LESSON IN VALUE OF RIVER

So Declares Official Call of the Mississippi Improvement Association Convention in This City

IMPRESS ITS IMPORTANCE

Industry of Middle West Cannot Afford to Miss the Session Says the Call

An object lesson in the value of the Mississippi River transportation highway is drawn from the recent threat of a nation-wide railroad tie-up, in the official call for the Upper Mississippi River Improvement association's annual convention at La Crosse, October 25 to 26. In this connection the call says:

The dependence of the people upon these water routes, and the fact that no one can tell what time they may become the principal arteries of commerce as a matter of relief, or defense, establishes most clearly their great value, and that in defense, establishes most clearly the principal source of competition in the cost of transportation, but, added to this, they may be the only mode of giving relief to the people in cases of dire distress, or some unexpected calamity. They are a reserve force of the valuable nature, and it should be unfortunate if these rivers and canals were not improved so as always to be open for utilization and protection by and for the people."

The call continues:

Importance of the Convention

The convention to be held at La Crosse will be of practical importance because of the vitally important subjects that will be brought before it.

All cities and towns continued in the upper valley, all manufacturing and commercial interests should be represented at this convention and enter into the consideration of the facts which relate to their own business, in the matter of competition and movement by water, which, at present, they are cut off from obtaining, and will be cut off from until provisions are made for carriage of freight under modern conditions, to and from New Orleans and all ports in the upper valley. No important industry in the middle west can afford to omit the opportunity to take part in these proceedings and protect their own welfare accordingly. It is a condition and not a theory that now presents itself before them. It will be a delegate's convention devoted to the practical consideration of the subject of river transportation and its modern requirements, that will be discussed by able and interesting speakers; and each delegate will be given an opportunity to be heard on all questions presented.

"The citizens of La Crosse will offer suitable entertainment to all visiting delegates, and extend a hearty invitation to them to visit this beautiful city and manufacturing center. Ample accommodations will be afforded for the comfort of visitors, and every courtesy shown them. All will remember with extreme pleasure the delightful entertainment extended us by La Crosse during our former convention in that city, October 10-11, 1905.

The call outlines the purposes of the association. It is addressed to the governors of Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, to the mayors of cities, towns and villages, to all commercial organizations and to the press of the Mississippi Valley.

The document is signed by Thomas Wilkinson of Burlington, Iowa, president, and Lewis B. Boswell, of Quincy, Ill., secretary of the association.

WIFE ASKS DECREE OF DIVORCE FROM CONVICT SPOUSE

Mrs. Mischel charges, also, that on one occasion her husband threatened to kill her. She asks alimony.

RUSS LOSSES IN THE GREAT WAR 6,000,000 IS REPORT

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., Oct. 6.—Russia has lost six million men during the first two years of the war and at least 1,250,000 in this year's offensive, according to estimates from Danish sources given out by the semi-official news agency Friday.

Lloyd's prophecy to the United Press that Russia will "fight to the death" is about to be realized literally, the News agency commented, since Russia losses in the Galician fighting are again mounting to a figure which even that populous country cannot stand.

The czar's guards were completely wiped out during the bloody fighting near Pustomy and Korytnica, after having suffered heavy losses on the Schichold river.

LABOR RIOTS START OF SOCIAL UPHEAVAL SAYS MOTHER JONES

BY CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—"New York's too 'damned quiet.' This traction strike is too much like a picnic. I'm going to stir 'em up and I'm going to do it through the women."

Eighty-six-year-old "Mother" Jones, angel of the mine camps, who stirred women to the riot stage Thursday night, commented this Friday, promising at the same time that the metropolis would see some "fireworks" before she was done. With every sentence she pounded her fist on a table to drive home her remarks.

"This labor trouble in New York is just the start of a social revolution all over the country," she said. "I had hoped that it wasn't, but it is. And, it's really the women who count in any nation. They start reforms and revolutions. You know they made the men tear down the bastille in the French revolution—and you know there's never been a king in France since then."

A twinkle came into her eyes, and the set lines of face relaxed.

"Yes, they did stir things up a bit last night," she said, reverting to the riot incident. "You know women are queer."

"This city is money mad," she continued. "The pirates down in Wall street are fanatical with their million, and the mayor, apparently, is corporation-controlled. But they can't scare us with grand juries. You know I've been in the bull pen myself."

DEARHOLT HEADS STATE MEDICS

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 6.—Dr. H. E. Dearholt of Milwaukee on Friday was elected president of the state

For Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Here in America there is much suffering from catarrh and head noises. American people would do well to consider the method employed by the English to combat this insidious disease. Everyone knows how damp the English climate is and how dampness affects those suffering from catarrh. In England they treat catarrhal deafness and head noises as a constitutional disease and use an internal remedy for it that is really very efficacious.

Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they had their hearing restored by this English treatment to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven and eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with catarrh, catarrhal formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be easily prepared at home for about 75c and is made as follows:

From your druggist obtain 1 oz. of Parmitin (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmitin is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are usually remarkably quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this recipe a trial and free themselves from this destructive disease.

Medical Society of Wisconsin. Dr. Joseph Smith of Wausau and Dr. J. F. Fember of Janesville were chosen as vice presidents. Other officers elected were: Dr. Rock Slyster of Waupun, secretary, and Dr. A. R. Hall, Ripon, treasurer. Delegates picked to represent the state society at the medical society convention to be held in New York next June were Dr. Horace M. Brown, Milwaukee, and Dr. Rock Slyster of Waupun. Milwaukee was chosen as the meeting place of the next convention.

"Contentment abides with the truth," says the old adage, but very few men are in a position to vouch for the truth of it.

"Mother" writes: "My son and daughter have reached the ages of 21 and 19. Both of them have grown up quickly and are well formed and strong looking, but they are neither of them strong and active as I had hoped they would be. They are weak and timid. They are listless and forgetful and I am much alarmed over their conditions."

Answer: Your children have both grown large at the expense of their strength. Their systems need a good, bracing tonic, and builder. Three-grain cadomene tablets will be splendid for them and should make them strong and healthy in a short time.

"Miss C." writes: "I am so light in weight that my friends call me 'Bubble.' I am very thin and pale. I want to increase my weight."

Answer: What your system requires is a good blood and nerve tonic. Such you will find in three-grain hypo-nuclease tablets. Take these tablets with your meals and they will cause proper assimilation of your food. I always recommend these tablets to increase the weight.

"R. R. No. 2" asks: "Will you please tell me what is the matter with me and tell me what I may get to make me well? I have constant misery in my back on both sides, have headache all the time, and my feet and limbs, in fact, my whole body swells. The urine I pass is very little and a kind of dark brown. It seems to be going into my blood."

Answer: You did not say how long you have been suffering, but you have a well-developed case of kidney trouble. Start at once taking balmwort tablets. They should get your kidneys in good order in a little while.

"L. W." writes: "My blood is in

ORVILLE WRIGHT PRESENTS PATENTS TO GOVERNMENT

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Orville Wright, noted American aeroplane inventor, has presented all his patents free of charge to the government. Friday's issue of the Aviation Magazine Aero-plane declared. Every manufacturer, the magazine asserted, will, therefore, be able to use the Wright patents, said to be valued at millions of dollars, unreservedly.

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name, and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

bad condition. I suffer with constipation and my tongue is always coated. My skin is dark and I have pimples. I feel tired all the time, but I am too nervous to sleep. Please prescribe."

Answer: Get a tube of three-grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur) and take according to directions. They will clean your blood, aid digestion and relieve constipation. When you get your blood pure, the other symptoms disappear.

"Lucile" writes: "I want to get rid of dandruff and itching scalp. What would you suggest?"

Answer: In my practice I have prescribed the same treatment for seven years to overcome dandruff, and thousands are satisfied there is nothing better than the use of plain yellow minyol. Minyol contains no alcohol, and cleans and vitalizes the scalp. It tends to strengthen the scalp and gives life, luster and health to the hair.

"Mother" asks: "What may I give my children to relieve them of colds and coughs?"

Answer: A pleasant tasting and very effective cough and cold medicine is made by mixing with a pint of simple sugar syrup or honey, 2 1/2 oz. essence mentholaxene. This should break up a cold and drive it out of the system, as the mentholaxene is slightly laxative in its action on the stomach and bowels. Every one in the family may use this remedy, and it is highly recommended.

"W. W. C." writes: "I have gained so much flesh that I'm all out of proportion and I do not feel good. What will reduce my weight?"

Answer: Five-grain arbolone tablets are the most effective and safest reducers I know of. They are harmless; come in sealed tubes with complete directions.

AMERICANS HAVE NARROW ESCAPES FROM EUROPE'S WAR

By WILBUR S. FORREST
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Sept. 19.—(By Mail.)—American men of military age who come to London just now had better bring along their birth certificates. They will need them and more to convince the British authorities they are not super slackers.

The super slackers—men who have failed to register under the military conscription act—are daily falling into the net which the war office has set for them. Americans are being netted in almost every haul. If they fail to have the documentary evidence handy they are liable to remain "guests" of the London police until someone in Ambassador Page's embassy can look up the records.

When a crowded tube train arrived at its terminus a few days ago, the male passengers were herded into a big enclosure. Two men who had evaded conscription wept. Others hastily sent for their wives and the necessary papers. An American newspaperman, whose name is well known to readers of a big New York paper, was in the "catch."

He proved his identity when the opportunity arose and was freed. The authorities, however, led a score of men off to the district police station where they spent the night. More than half were super slackers.

The raid system is only a part of the big campaign to rope in the military shirkers. Careful examination of registration cards held by all aliens is going forward. The Americans, as well as Dutch, Spanish, Swiss, Argentinians and other neutrals are required to show why they are not serving in the British army. They answer that they are neutral. The swift reply is "Prove it." "Here's how our American proved it."

The mail brought a document requesting him to appear at a big recruiting office Sept. 2 to join "His Majesty's Forces." The American wrote the recruiting officer that he was an American citizen and therefore exempt. Twelve hours later, back came the officer's answer. "Prove it."

The American mailed his passport, issued by the state department that this "should eliminate all doubt." The passport got lost in the mail. September 2 was drawing near and three days later there was no word from the recruiting officer. This meant that a pair of soldiers would probably appear soon at the American's doorstep and take him along as a super slacker. He called the officer on the telephone. "I've sent you my passport; isn't that proof enough?" he queried. "Makes no difference," was the reply, "you may be an American all right, but you'll have to prove it."

So the American proved it by having the American embassy write the recruiting officer a letter. Then the recruiter apologized.

It is one of the many narrow escapes from khaki that Americans are having just now.

O'LEARY BRINGS SUIT FOR LIBEL AGAINST MCCORMICK

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Whether the term "hyphenate" is libelous or not, will be decided by the suit of Jeremiah O'Leary, of the Truth society, against Chairman Vance McCormick of the democratic national committee, on file here Friday.

The suit is for $50,000. No bill of complaint was attached to the papers at O'Leary's offices, however, it was stated he will charge libel because McCormick, commenting on the Taft-Koosevelt meeting at the Union League club, said he was surprised that Charles E. Hughes did not say something about "this friend, Jeremiah O'Leary" and then O'Leary's name with the further statement, "No doubts any more that Mr. Hughes has accepted the candidacy of the hyphenates."

"I AM REGAINING MY HEALTH AFTER SUFFERING FOR FIVE YEARS", SAYS GREEN BAY MAN

"At last I have found a medicine that has proven of wonderful benefit to me. I have suffered more or less for the last 5 years from stomach trouble. Had headaches off and on nearly all of the time, sometimes to such an extent that I became very dizzy. My appetite also was very poor and I did not seem to be able to find anything that would give me relief. "Tanlac was so strongly indorsed by so many people and I was in such a condition of health that I decided to try it. I am glad to say that I am feeling very much better since I have taken Tanlac. In fact, am regaining my health. Of course I do not feel entirely well yet, as I have been a sufferer for so long that I realize I cannot expect complete recovery in such a short time, but feel satisfied that by giving Tanlac a fair trial I will soon be entirely well and I recommend it because it is a good health giver," was the statement made by Florent Hannon, who lives at 1320 Day street, Green Bay, while talking to the Tanlac representative a few days ago.

Tanlac, the national tonic, each day is being publicly indorsed as a wonderful tonic, health giver and system builder. It has become well and favorably known and those who desire to know the real merits of Tanlac can obtain this information by calling on the Representative J. C. Henderson, who is meeting the public daily at C. A. Begun's Drug Store in the Majestic building, and explaining the merits of Tanlac.

Tanlac can be obtained here only at Begun's Drug Store.

BAPTISTS OF THE STATE GATHER IN CITY NEXT WEEK

Two Hundred Pastors and Laymen Expected to Attend Is Word to Peacock

BROAD PROGRAM IS FIXED

Leaders in Many Lines Will Talk and Four Banquets Are Scheduled

Two hundred pastors and laymen of Wisconsin will be La Crosse guests next week for the annual state convention of Baptists. It was announced on Friday by Rev. W. J. Peacock of the First Baptist church of this city. The convention proper will open Monday evening and will close with the session Thursday night. Morning, afternoon and evening sessions will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. It is announced, with only the evening meeting for Monday.

That the convention will be one of the most comprehensive ever held in the state is evidenced by many features of the program. Special teachers' meetings will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings at 8:30, at which Sunday school methods and young people's work will receive special attention.

Four banquets will be on the program. The Chicago delegation of church and Sunday school experts will be feasted Tuesday evening, at the Y. M. C. A. and on Wednesday evening the men will banquet at the First Methodist church while the women of the convention will meet at a dinner in the parlors of St. Paul's Universalist church. Preceding a parade through the business district, the young people will be banqueted at the First Baptist church.

Dorsey's films on Japan, educational motion pictures, will be shown each evening at the First Baptist church. It is announced. Besides that a play, "One Day in India," will be given by the Baptist young people of the city some time during the week.

Arrangements have been made whereby dinner and supper will be served visiting delegates at the First Methodist church parlors.

WOMEN RIOTERS ARE CLUBBED BY POLICE, CHARGE

Wives and Women Relatives of Striking Carmen Follow Mother Jones' Advice and "Raise Hell"

WOMEN GET TEMPER UP

Stones, Asphalt, Anything Is Seized and Police Come In After Surface Car Had Been Wrecked

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Spurred on by the exhortations of "Mother" Jones, labor agitator, 300 wives and women relatives of striking street car men battled with the police late Thursday afternoon in the most serious riot since the walkout on the traction lines began a month ago. Night sticks were used by the police and many of the women were bruised. Scores of the rioters carried babies in their arms.

"Mother" Jones' instructions to striking car men's wives to "play hell," showed net results Friday in appearance in police court of three men and six women arrested. Charges were made that police clubbed some of the women in the mob that rushed from the hall where Mother Jones spoke and with her burning injunction fresh in mind, attacked a surface car at Eighty-sixth and Second avenue, smashing all windows and almost wrecking the woodwork. In fact, one patrolman exhibited a splintered club he had wielded on the maddened women.

"Don't think of being 'ladies,'" was "Mother" Jones' advice. "I'd rather be called that old 'she devil,' as some of the capitalists call me, than to be called a lady. I've looked out of the bars in many a bull pen and I'm still able to raise hell. Now, you women, help your men."

The spirit seemed to creep into the women's blood. Many of them with babies in their arms, rushed out of the hall. They seized bricks, chunks of asphalt—anything—and went ahead. They fought like mad. Officers engaged in quieting them, said that the crowd was the worst they had ever handled.

A saloon conversation, in which it is alleged the killing of President Shonts and Manager Hedley of the Interborough was urged as a strike settlement means, led today to the arrest of Oscar Wallace and John J. Sheeran, striking car men.

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, calomel, pills act on bowels like pepper acts in nostrils.

Get a 10-cent box now. Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

MADISON TYPIST CONFESSES SHE KILLED HER BABY

"I Couldn't Face My Friends with My Baby" Is the Sobbing Confession

SMOTHERED THE CHILD

Kept Body in Room for a Week and Then Placed It in the Park Lagoon

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 6.—Helen Griep, the 23-year-old who Thursday confessed the murder of her week-old illegitimate child, is being held in the Dane county jail on a charge of first degree murder. It is expected that District Attorney Sauthoff will charge her with manslaughter when the case is called, as the evidence plainly indicates, according to police officials that the girl was mentally unbalanced when the deed was committed.

Walter Burch, the confessed father of the child, has been arrested and is held.

District Attorney Sauthoff said today that he will personally ask Governor Philipp to pardon the girl before she has served a day of whatever sentence is meted out to her. Public sentiment is entirely in her favor.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 6.—"I couldn't face my friends in Madison with my baby. I loved him. God knows I loved him."

This statement between sobs was the confession of Miss Helen Griep, a stenographer of this city, formerly of Watertown, in telling how she disposed of her child here last week. The baby was found in the Tenney Park lagoon last Monday. Around its neck was a handkerchief with the letter "G." It was this clue that led to the arrest of the girl and her confession. She says the baby was born in Oconomowoc and that a week ago last Saturday she came to Madison with it. When she stepped off the depot platform she confesses that she put her hand over the baby's mouth and smothered it to death. She kept the baby in her room for one week and then put it into the lagoon.

TAFT TO SPEAK FOR HUGHES IN LA CROSSE SOON

Beveridge, Borah or Harding Also List for Here; Betting Odds Favor the Republicans

That La Crosse will have an opportunity to hear former President William Howard Taft during this campaign and that the republican county committee has been offered the choice of Senator Harding of Ohio, Senator Beveridge of Indiana or Senator Borah of Idaho for another address here, was the announcement this morning of Republican Chairman Harry Watkins.

At a recent meeting of members of the state central committee in Milwaukee, Mr. Watkins was informed, it was announced that Mr. Taft would visit Wisconsin for a number of talks in behalf of Hughes and the republican ticket and that La Crosse had been selected for one of his Badger addresses.

Saturday afternoon republican nominees for state offices will meet in the republican house in Milwaukee to plan a detailed speaking campaign to continue until November 7. Wisconsin is to be flooded with outside speakers of national prominence and strenuous campaigns will be worked out for Governor Philipp and other state officers. Upon Attorney General Walter C. Owen is the state committee banking for strenuous and continuous work.

James Elliott, representing the national committee, on a visit to Milwaukee was assured that the utmost harmony prevails between the republican national, state and county organizations.

Despite the recent visit to the state of Thomas R. Marshall, democratic vice presidential candidate, and the present western tour of President Wilson, the result of which democratic claim will mean a general strengthening of that party's cause in the west, betting odds in the state still point to a complete republican victory.

Heavy odds are being posted in Milwaukee on Philipp for Governor while 2 to 1 money is being offered liberally on La Follette as against William F. Wolfe, La Crosse, for United States senate.

STAGE SET FOR OPENING GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 6.—So far as Boston is concerned the world's series with all its thrills, long waiting in line before box offices, scrambling for tickets and doping of batteries, is as good as under way.

With the arrival of the Brooklyn team, the umpires and members of the national commission here Friday afternoon, the stage setting was complete.

Betting has been growing stronger every hour. Odds of ten to seven are being freely offered that the Red Sox will take the series and many bets have been placed at ten to nine that the Red Sox will cop the opening game.

Arrangements have been made by the police for the start of the annual "hot dog soap box" line-up which always spends the night in front of the ticket office prior to the opening of the big game.

Only general admission tickets will be on sale on the day of the game and these will sell at $1 and fifty cents.

Ideal weather is promised for the opening game.

DODGERS WIND UP SEASON WITH WIN AND GO TO BOSTON

Robinson Puts Substitutes to Work; Boston Takes Last Tilt from the Quakers

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Champion Brooklyn wound up the National league season here Thursday by defeating New York, 7 to 5. Manager Robinson gave his regulars a workout in the game, but had his recruits filling nearly every position when it ended. Appleton, who had worked little all season, pitched fine ball throughout. Tesreau and Anderson were hit hard, the latter pitching only part of the seventh. Smith finished the game and did well.

The new champions were to leave on a special train for Boston on Friday at 1 o'clock. They will be accompanied by several hundred fans, to be known as the Loyal Brooklyn rooters. The score: R H E New York . . . 1000220—5 9 7 Brooklyn . . . 0031030X—7 8 0 Batteries—Tesreau, Anderson, McCarty and Koehler; Appleton and Myers.

Boston, 4; Phils, 1
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 6.—With several players out of their regular positions, Boston and Philadelphia wound up the National league season here on Thursday with the former winning 4 to 1. The score: R H E Boston . . . 000201001—4 7 1 Philadelphia . . . 000010000—1 10 1

LIGHT BUT SCRAPPY ELEVEN WILL MEET REEDSBURG HOPES

The Team Averages Only 157 Pounds, Being 172 from Tackle to Tackle

It will be a light but scrappy high school team which meets Reedsburg Saturday afternoon. The team has a good fast running attack and is a store wall on defense but lacks the beef of last year's team behind it. The line from tackle to tackle is about the same, averaging 172 pounds, but the ends and the backfield bring this average down to 157 pounds for the whole team.

Here is the probable lineup with the weight of each player: Reget, left end, 130; W. Blatter, left tackle, 190; Lisovec, left guard, 181; Bleakley, center, 150; Bunge, right guard, 178; E. Blatter, right tackle, 160; Arsal, right end, 146; Layman, left half, 156; Spettel, (captain), fullback, 140; Weeks, right half, 150; Pratt, quarter, 150.

Weeks has been practicing drop kicks from difficult angles and can put one over from any place in the 35 yard line. In the scrimmage Thursday night the first tore right through the second line, never taking more than four or five plays to make a touch down. When the seconds were given the ball on the first one yard line, they were held for downs every time.

Who's Who in the World's Series

Brooklyn Pitchers

Lawrence Cheney—Dropped by the Cubs when Brooklyn took him by refusing to waive in 1915, Larry Cheney has been about the most dependable of the Dodger staff. He started his professional career with Bartlesville, Oklahoma, and went to the American league in 1907. The White Sox had him, but dropped him and he didn't get back until 1908 when Cincinnati looked him over. The Cubs took Cheney in 1912 and he stuck.

Wheeler Dell—Dell began to pitch professional baseball with Vancouver of the Northwestern league and went to the Dodgers from Seattle in the same circuit in 1915.

Richard Marquard—A Giant cast-off, Rube came to the National league from Indianapolis. He was known as the $11,000 beauty and then as the $11,000 lemon, but McGraw made a regular pitcher out of Marquard and the star southpaw did quite a bit of shining around New York before he was allowed to go to Brooklyn in 1915 at the waiver price.

John Wesley Coombs—A "come-back." Turned adrift by Connie Mack in 1914, he signed with the Dodgers and his work has been of the variety that made him famous. He was pitching for Colby college in 1905 when Connie Mack found him and signed him to a Philadelphia contract.

Edward Pfeffer—The Browns once had Pfeffer, the brightest star of the Brooklyn hurling corps, but sent him to Denver in 1911. Brooklyn drafted him from Grand Rapids in 1913. He is a right-hander.

George Nap Rucker—Still shining is this star although some of the lustre was taken off two years ago by an injury. His knowledge of the game and his possession of a slow ball that is almost dinky makes him still effective. He was obtained from Augusta by the Dodgers in the 1906 draft.

At the height of his career he was considered the best left-hander in the National league. Sherrod Smith—Smith had a chance with the National league as a member of the Pittsburgh club before he finally won his spurs with the Dodgers. He started his professional career with Jacksonville, Florida, and also has been with Louisville, Grand Rapids and Newark.

Samuel Agnew—When with the Browns, Agnew was one of the best in the American league as a receiver, and as a heavier to cut down base-stealers. He has seen little duty this year, however, having spent most of his time on the bench. He went to the Browns from Omaha in the Western league.

Chester D. Thomas—Rather hidden under a bushel basket is the fellow, for the main part of his duties is warming up pitchers. He occasionally takes a wallop at the ball as a pinch hitter, but very rarely works behind the bat in a regular contest. Thomas joined the Red Sox in 1914 and has been a regular ever since. He is a timely hitter and a good mechanical catcher.

First Base
Richard J. Hoblitzel—Hobby first turned up as a professional ball player with the Clarksburg, W. Va., club, and rose to a higher company in 1908, when he was taken on by Newark. He was sent to Wheeling by this club and was purchased in 1909 by Cincinnati. Charley Herzog jopped off Hoblitzel's head in 1914 and sent him to the Red Sox.

Second Base

John J. Barry—One of the most important members of the world's champions may be handicapped in this year's contests, for he recently suffered a fractured hand when he was hit by a pitched ball. Barry, who was born in Meriden, Conn., in 1887, is one of the most widely known players in baseball. He was a member of the famous Athletics when they regularly won American league championships and world's series. With the Athletics he was a shortstop, playing alongside Eddie Collins. He was signed by Connie Mack in 1908, fresh from successes at Holy Cross college. He was a mainstay of the Athletics from that time until 1914, when Mack broke up his famous machine and Barry was sold to Boston. He has since been the regular second baseman for the Red Sox. He is a dangerous hitter in the pinches and has few equals as a fielder.

Shortstop

Everett Scott—Heinie Wagner lost the shortstop position to this youth just two years ago. He was born at Bluffton, Indiana, twenty-three years ago, and signed his first professional contract at the behest of scouts for the Red Sox. He was shifted to St. Paul for seasoning and was recalled in 1914. He is rather a weak hitter but has a habit of shooting his safe-tyes to the outfield just when they are needed most.

Conditions of Play in Series

The series is for four out of seven games. The national commission has full charge of the games. It collects all the money from the gate and divides it amongst players, clubs and the National commission. The commission appoints the official scorers for the games and decides the prices of admission. The schedule of games is arranged under its supervision. Money from the first four games is divided three ways—sixty per cent to the players, 10 per cent to the commission and thirty per cent to the club owners to be split evenly between the clubs. The 60 per cent which goes to the players is cut—sixty per cent to the winning team and 40 per cent to the losing team. After the first four games all of the money received with the exception of the commission's ten per cent goes to the club owners for a fifty-fifty split. Prices for this year's games are $5 for box seats, $3 for grandstand, $2 for pavilion and $1 general admission.

Stiff Licks Put In By Normal For Dubuquers

Normal school football men are rolling over the sod six days out of the week in preparation for the first game of the season with the Dubuque college and seminary one week from Saturday.

Changes are still taking place in the state school roster of candidates for this year's eleven. Although "Nobby" Bott entered the school the first week, he had not made his appearance on the gridiron because of outside work. His position has now been changed, however, and he was running around getting into trim on Thursday night for the first time. Bott played both in the line and in the backfield on the La Crosse, high school eleven for the past two years. With the wealth of material that is now out daily it is admitted that the little fellow will have to manifest considerable scrap to land a regular berth.

SPORT DOPE

Frank Baker, formerly with the Athletics, but now with the Yankees, gained the title of "Home Run Baker" when he hit two home runs in the world's series of 1911. His batting average for the series was .375.

Catcher Gowdy of the Boston Braves piled up the remarkable batting average of .545 in the series of 1914, which the Braves won from the Athletics. His hitting was the biggest factor in Boston's victory.

Rdolps and James, pitching for Boston in the 1914 world's series, each won two games from the Philadelphia Athletics.

Ty Cobb's batting average in the world's series of 1907 was only .200. In the series of 1908 he had an average of .368. In the series of 1909 against Pittsburgh his average was but .231.

Babe Adams, Pittsburgh pitcher, leaped to fame in 1909 when he won three games from Detroit, virtually pitching the Pirates to world's championship.

Frank Isbell made four two-base hits and scored three runs in the world's series game of October 13, 1906, between the White Sox and Cubs.

NOTHING SHRINKS,

FADES, WRINKLES

Women save $5 in an hour by dry cleaning at home with gasoline.

Women here who have tried dry cleaning find it very easy and inexpensive to clean and freshen all the ribbons, silks, satins, laces, yokes, furs, silk shirtwaists, kid gloves and shoes, neckties, children's clothes, suits, caps, Swiss, lawn, organdie and chiffon dresses, woolen garments, fancy vests, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of Solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it instantly dissolves, then put in the goods to be cleaned, rub a little and out they come, looking as bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

You can do five dollars' worth of home dry cleaning in an hour at little cost. It is so easy and you can't make a mistake. Any grocery or garage will supply the gasoline and you can obtain two ounces of solvite at the drug store which is simply a gasoline soap, then a wash boiler or large dishpan completes your dry cleaning outfit.

WOULD USE FLEET TO KEEP MATERIALS NEEDED IN AMERICA AT HOME

DENVER, Col., Oct. 6.—Allan L. Benson, socialist candidate for president, in the course of an attack on militarism Thursday declared that the best use our navy could be put to at the present time would be to blockade the ports of the United States against the exportation of materials that America needs at home. "As for the high cost of living, it is a scandal and a shame that food-stuffs we need are being shipped away," the candidate declared.

ELEVEN FRENCH FLYERS MAKE GOOD RECORDS

BY HENRY WOOD

PARIS, Sept. 22.—(By Mail.)—France's eleven star aviators or "aces" as they are known in France have "officially" brought down no less than ninety-two German machines as their combined "bag."

This number would easily reach 150 if there were included the German flyers that have also been brought down by them "unofficially." The French government only credits its aviators with the machines that are brought down within the French lines so that it can be "officially" established that neither the machine nor the pilots can ever again see the enemy.

In addition to these "official" kills of the aviators included in France's list of eleven "aces" has brought down not less than two and some as many as seven machines that have fallen within the German lines and for which they are consequently not given "official" credit.

The eleven "aces" and their "official" records are as follows:

Aviator	Machine brought down
Navarre	14
Guyonmer	14
Nungesser	11
Chaput	8
Chainat	8
Dorme	8
Duellin	7
Lenoir	7
Hugues de Rochefort	5
Heurteaux	5
Hubert de la Tour	5

Total . . . . . 92
In addition, several of the above aviators also have a number of German "sausage" (observation balloons) to their credit, but as these are not able to fight when attacked the French aviators do not count them among their "kills."

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 60-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Verse and Reverse

IN THE ARM CHAIR

By Anne Porter Johnson
The crackling fire at twilight brings A thousand thoughts of old-time things
The dear home-place among the trees,
The soothing lilac-laden breeze,
The school-house, with its coaxing bell,
The golden fields, the mystic dell;
The tiny-windowed, storm-stained church
That crouched 'neath the silver birch,
The woodland with its magic wiles,
The dreamy, whispering maple aisles Through which at evening time we walked.
As of the coming years we talked.

Oh, Passing Years, in your mad sweep
You take so much I wish to keep!
Will you not leave with me, I pray,
The old-time things, at twilight gray?

FOUR AGES OF MAN

In childhood just peeps up the blade of ill.
That youth to lust rears, fury and self-will.
And, as man cools to sensual desire Ambition catches with as fierce a fire.
Until old age sends him with one last lust.
Of gold, to keep it where he found—in dust.
Life at both ends so feeble and constrained.
How should the imp of sin be slain or chained?

INJUNCTION PUTS GLASSY PAIR IN LOCAL VAUDEVILLE

If Bert Savoy and Jay Brennan received a royalty for the number of laughs they produce or if they were to have a factory where applause could be made to order their reception on the La Crosse theater vaudeville bill at the hands of three large audiences Thursday could not have been more enthusiastic. In their skit called "On the Rialto," they have one of the choicest bits of comedy that ever left Broadway. The team is a distinct feature of the week-end five-act program. Savoy does a woman impersonation which can only be equalled by Julian Eltinge, and Brennan is perfectly at home in the fun making business. They left the New York Winter Garden some weeks ago to go with the Ziegfeld Follies. The Schuberts, of the Winter Garden, secured an injunction for their return, and they were forced into variety. They are now on the Orpheum circuit. They were the hit of the Palace Music Hall in Chicago last week and go to the Orpheum theater in Minneapolis next week as the headliners.

The entire program is one promising favor until the end of the week. The two Princes open with a musical number in which they prove themselves adepts with the accordion. Several popular airs are played while the musicians swing in time. Not a few feet in the audience unconsciously tap.

The Wartenburg Brothers bring a combination juggling and musical act unique in the vaudeville field. While a guitar and mandolin strum pretty tunes the brothers nimbly tumble heavy objects on the feet.

"The Bright Side of Life" is Edmunds' and La Velle's interpretation of the southern negro. They call themselves "The Tennessee Magnolias" and their humor is as rare as the flower.

The Puppets were received well. The act consists of tiny bodies, hav-

THE HASKIN LETTER

The Newest Public School

Our System s the Best in the World for Average Child; but What if He Doesn't Happen to Be an Average Child?

By Frederic J. Haskin

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 6.—very now and then somebody writes a book on "Great Men Who Never Went To School." There are plenty of such great ones, and an important subdivision of the family are the great men who couldn't go to school, not on account of lack of means, but because they couldn't get along with the school system. A volume even more interesting than any of the published ones might be written by some omniscient commentator, on the men who might have been great if they had been able to go to school.

For Standard Child

The chief strength and the chief weakness of our public schools lie in the same point—their standardization. They are schools for the average child, finely figured down to meet the needs of the average child, and that makes it possible for them to give the average child the best free education he ever got in the world's history. That is their strength. When they come up against the unusual child they show their weakness. The unusual child doesn't fit into the scheme of things, and he remains as a friction point, causing loss of energy and heat on the part of teacher and parent until he and the system often part company on terms of hostility.

Here in Kansas City they have just opened a new public school that is dedicated especially to the cause of the unusual boy. It takes boys who can't get along with the ordinary public school system. It doesn't make any difference if they are young geniuses or only unusually obstreperous. Their trouble may be anything from budding artistic temperament to congenital dislike of authority. If they fail to fit into the scheme of things as drawn up for the usual child, they can come to the new Broadway School, and they will get a schooling if it is humanly possible to give them one, and probably enjoy the process. The new school is an interesting exhibit.

Trade School First Idea

Miss Henrietta Campbell, who is the moving spirit in the new departure and an enthusiast in the cause, has a long record of service in the schools of Kansas City, and it was largely on the strength of that record that her ideas were hearkened to and blossomed forth in concrete form. She is a specialist on the problem of the unusual child. She is troubled by the boy who leaves school in the middle of his grammar course just when he ought to be getting interested. She was one of those chiefly instrumental in starting the local manual training and trade school, in an attempt to hold that boy; but the trade school flourished so exceedingly that it wandered away from its original purpose. It has grown into a big department of the public schools now, where the boys who want to learn trades instead of going to college build two-story brick houses as part of their courses; and the unusual child is about where he was before.

So Miss Campbell went before the School Board, and seeing what she had done they gave her the new school to carry out her ideas. In this school an attempt will be made to hold and educate the boys who would otherwise drop out of public school on what the divorce courts call grounds of mutual incompatibility. The school is an integral part of the public school system. No one is compelled to attend it, if he or his parents prefer to have him attend the local ward school. Any boy who can't get along elsewhere is welcome.

A Different School

Outwardly, the school resembles almost anything rather than the public institution of learning we attended in our youth. The founders were particularly desirous of getting a good environment. Some of them had seen the success of kindred experiments jeopardized by putting the school in the wrong place. So they invaded one of the exclusive residence districts, where the streets are quiet and overarched with big trees, and the houses stand back from the pavement and regard the world askance. They found one of those big brick houses with white pillared porches that the west seems to have evolved as a residence type. It has started life as a residence, and subsequently had been turned into a church. Now it is a school, though there is still a pipe-organ in the gymnasium.

Naturally the neighborhood at first regarded the new school a little doubtfully. It was known to have been started for boys who didn't get along elsewhere, and its presence appeared somewhat in the light of an invasion. But the boys were carefully posted on this state of affairs and asked to vindicate the fair name of their new Alma Mater. Mischief would lead to complaints, and complaints might lead to removal. As a result of this appeal to reason, the conduct of the new school as a body has so far been worthy of a young ladies' seminary. After the neighborhood had watched for a week, an emissary came in the shape of an old gentleman who lived next door, he admitted the initial suspicions of near-by residents, but now, he said, "We are convinced that you will be a success. If you need any help, call on us."

Attend by Choice

So much for what the stimulation of school spirit among the boys may do. The first step they take here is to try to make the boys like the school, and to take pride in it. The attendance is still small enough to make a clan spirit possible. All the boys who attend have picked out the school in preference to the regular one on their own initiative or on that of their parents. There are about thirty of them so far, and practically every one of them is a boy who would have sooner or later dropped out of the public schools because he couldn't get along along in them.

Here they study the individual. They do what it is impossible to do in the big machine such as the ordinary public school has to be. This is a special school for special cases. There are boys of all types represented. The unusually bright boy is just as hard for the big school to handle as the unusually stupid or the unusually mischievous boy. Miss Campbell tells of one boy that she taught a good many years ago, who has since become one of the leading professional men in a neighboring big city. That boy was continually in trouble, much of it serious. He was even up before the court. His trouble was that he was too bright. He could finish his lessons in half the time allotted, and spend the other half doing things better left undone. He could play truant two or three days running, and still keep up with the class, and he knew it. He probably had a certain contempt for the school program, and those who had to labor over it. As a result his school days were one continual turmoil.

In the Broadway school they will keep a boy busy if he has the brain of Webster. They study each case and give it as much to do as necessary. The school is not divided into grades, but into groups. That gives a loop-hole and a renewed self-respect to the boy who is low for his age and size, and who often quits because he is ashamed to be classed with the little boys. It also gives a chance for the boy whose abilities

The big public school takes a cross-section of a dozen subjects and offers it as a year's work. Such a cross-section contains a part of each subject that is as difficult in its way as the parts of all the other subjects. The boy who can master one can master all. That is the theory, and it doesn't work in certain cases. They have boys in the Broadway school who can't spell. They may never learn to spell. That weakness held them down in grade, kept them from promotion. They couldn't "pass" in spelling. Yet one of them is a fine arithmetician, a branch calling for a higher type of brain than spelling. He may grow up unable to spell words of six letters, but that is really no reason for holding him back in other branches. If he has capacity he can get somebody to do his spelling for him for eighteen dollars a week.

To give any comprehensive idea of the various types that a school like the Broadway will naturally get in any big city, would mean giving a sketch of every one of the thirty boys, and then the next thirty that arrive may be different. They probably will be. That is what is the matter with these boys, or what they are blessed with. They are different.

The theory of the school consists in individual attention and continual supervision. Each boy will get the work he needs, even if that means a combination of first-grade arithmetic with seventh-grade geography. The supervision is a tribute to the fact that not all of them are here on account of unusual mentality. Some of them have been unable to get along on account of a genius for getting into trouble. The motto of the school is "A chance for every boy," and the record of the newcomer is not even investigated. He gets a chance to make a new one.

As an experiment, the school is interesting and significant. It is a public school doing what many private schools do, but it combines the advantages of both systems. The public school may tend too much toward the machine occasionally, but there is a fine discipline for anybody in being part of a machine. There is a certain impersonality and ruthlessness about the laws of a big public school system that give the child a forecast of the laws of the world. Even for the out-of-the-ordinary boy whose parents can afford to send him to a private school, such a school as the Broadway would seem to be a good thing. And when the family can't afford a private school—well, the state owes an education to the unusual individual just as much as to the average.

NEW DWELLINGS UNDER ERECTION AT WEST SALEM

WEST SALEM, Wis.—(Special.)—That the spirit of expansion has not deserted West Salem is proven by the fact that several new residences and two business houses are under process of construction.

Fred Schmeckpeper's new house in the Gillfillan and Bolles addition, is nearly ready for occupancy. It is one of the most up-to-date and convenient houses in West Salem. Mrs. Celestia Smith's new cement block bungalow presents a very attractive appearance, even in an unfinished condition.

Mr. William Miller has the foundation of his new home on Main street, next to the Selden home, nearly finished.

A building to be used for a barber shop is being erected on Leonard street between Mr. Meyer's store and the Hoffman saloon. A building to be used for storing papers, rags, old iron and so forth is being built opposite the high school.

Theater Party
A theater party was given by Miss Lillian Wittenberg on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Russel Gullickson, soon to be a bride. The young people motored to La Crosse, attended the performance at the La Crosse Theater and upon their return to West Salem were given a supper at the home of Mrs. George Gullickson. The guests presented Miss Russel Gullickson with a pair of gloves.

Mrs. Meyer Buried
Funeral services for the late Mrs. Elizabeth Meyer, were held at the Presbyterian church on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. Samuel McKee and two appropriate duets were given by Mrs. Pearl Wakefield and Mrs. Angus Johnson.

Mrs. Meyer was a resident of West Salem for many years and at the advanced age of eighty-three she gave up her home here and went to Rockland to live with a daughter. Two years ago the daughter died and Mrs. Meyer went to La Crosse to live with her grandson and his family, with whom she made her home until her death, Saturday, Sept. 30. She was in her ninetieth year. Nearly all of Mrs. Meyer's best known friends here preceded her to the "Better Land", but there are many here still who remember her as a devoted Presbyterian, a most kindly neighbor and true friend.

Reception for Mrs. Hume
Mrs. Evelyn Leavitt and Mrs. Lurana Leavitt gave a reception Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Dudley in honor of their sister-in-law, Mrs. Hattie Leavitt Hume, of Omaha, Neb. The house was tastefully decorated with red autumn leaves. Miss Phoebe Dudley and Mrs. Walter Smith assisted in the dining room.

Local and Personal
The Study club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Otto Kirmse. The class was conducted by Mrs. George Wilcox.

There was a meeting of the directors at the county insane hospital here Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Josephine Sparling is spending a few days with her son, Mr. Wm. Sparling and his family, in La Crosse.

George Dudley and family spent Sunday in Viroqua, visiting relatives. Mrs. George Middlebrook returned to her home in Millbank, S. D., on Monday last, after a two weeks' visit with her sisters, Miss Smead and Mrs. Taylor.

Zoological Moment.
Nephew—"I tried to get a raise today, aunt, but the boss refused it." Mrs. Blunderby—"Too bad, Dicky. Perhaps you didn't approach him at the zoological moment."

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Save your hair! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

RUSSIAN RULER LEADS A BUSY AND SIMPLE LIFE AT HEADQUARTERS

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

IMPERIAL HEADQUARTERS, RUSSIAN ARMY, Sept. 4.—(By Mail.)—Czar Nicholas, ruler of Russia's millions and commander-in-chief of her armies, works harder than any millionaire in Wall street. He puts in more hours a day than American trade unions allow by just about as much again. And he lies down to sleep at night on a folding camp bed, hard and springless, made of canvas.

Seen on Way to Work

The emperor was on his way to work, walking through the rain, when I saw him. He looks like his pictures except that he is quite brown from living much in the open. He walks with an athletic swing. Life at the front seems to agree with him.

Every soldier within view stood at rigid salute as he appeared in the doorway of the rather modest two-story house that was his quarters. The czar responded. Stepping forward a few paces, he shook hands with one of his officers and despite the drizzle, stood in the open for about half a minute talking. He wore neither overcoat nor waterproof, being dressed simply in the regulation khaki and black boots. He hurried on through the rain to the offices of the general staff, a hundred yards away, followed by two aides-de-camp and 12-year-old crown prince's mongrel, which, not interested in his master's English lesson going on inside, had come out to share honors with the imperial suite.

Gets to Work

In a minute the czar, in a room on the second floor of the staff headquarters, had settled down to work. General Michel Alexieff, chief of staff, was making his daily report and getting his orders.

Nicholas II rises shortly after 8 o'clock. At nine he sits down to eggs, rolls and coffee. At 10 o'clock he goes to staff headquarters and receives General Alexieff's report, illustrated by maps and charts. By 12:30 p. m. the report is finished and the emperor's orders for generals along the entire front are sent out by telegraph from an adjoining room.

No Cigars

The czar eats lunch at his own quarters. A taste of hors-d'oeuvres, an omelette, meat, dessert and coffee form his usual meal at this time of day, with a cigarette after the coffee. He does not smoke cigars. At lunch are the crown prince, two aides, the governor of the palace, a court functionary, the imperial phyhis emperor-father. The czar then sits in his study going over the ministerial reports, which arrive daily from Petrograd. He keeps at his desk until long after midnight, only stopping at about 11 o'clock for a glass or two of tea.

Bed Chamber Plain

Nothing could be plainer than the czar's bed chamber, where he and his son sleep. Between the two beds, against the wall, is a small night table and upon this are small frames, holding photographs of various members of the imperial family. On the wall, over the table, are two or three more photographs and a couple of ikons. A few arm chairs, a small curtained bookcase and a musical instrument, half mandolin, half guitar, the property of the crown prince, are the other furnishings. The floor is carpeted. In cold weather the room is heated by a fireplace with the great white-tiled box-like stove and arrangement built in Russian style about it. The lighting is by electricity.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat. Says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

NORMAL SCHOOL TO MEET WINONA HERE BEFORE H. S. GAME

Double Football Bill Will Open the Season at the Fair Ground Field

Because of unexpected developments in negotiations which have been under way between the normal schools of Winona and La Crosse, Dr. Sputh's eleven will play a practice game on the normal field Saturday afternoon with the up-river delegation. It was learned early Friday. The fray will start at 1:30 in order that the high school contest with Reedsburg may be pulled off on scheduled time.

In contracting for the game, the Winona men insist that La Crosse shall play none of its letter men from last year. Should this be enforced, as it probably will be, such stars as Captain Miller, Grausnick and Grounds will not be expected to take part, considerably weakening the backfield. Many second team men will have to be taken over by the firsts. Even with the latter combination, however, it is expected that the local team will have little trouble in defeating the first callers of the year.

Hudson—"But look here, old man. As far as I can make out you're engaged to four girls at once. The little god with the arrows has been pretty busy with you." Judson—"Arrows? The little beast has been using a machine gun on me."

Why Called "Bloodhound."

As regards the name bloodhound, Count Le Couteux believes that when fox hunting in something like its present form was instituted it was found that the sleuth-hound was not fast enough for the purpose, and the present foxhound was evolved from various material, and about this time it became usual, in speaking of the old hound of the country, to call him a bloodhound, meaning the hound of pure blood (as might be said of a blooded horse) to distinguish him from the new hound or foxhound. There is only one breed of pure, genuine bloodhounds, and that is the English.
